the same time the other day, the knife passing very near an artery, but presume Fred. thinks "a miss is as good as a mile."

One of our business men got "badly mixed" the other morning, and rushed at his alarm clock with a loud "Hello!" For further par-closed their schools with a joint picnic last it must have been a high-toned affair.

We have just learned that the young man in Dakota who wrote us a postal last winter about the warm, pleasant weather there, froze the end of his nose while taking the card to the postoffice. Was this retribution?

ing year. Dr. Josiah Andrews of this place, trinkets with their primitive tools.

The annual meeting of the county board of examiners was held on the 28th, at the office of the county clerk, and A. E. Ross of South Haven was elected secretary for the ensuing year, A. C. Martin of Paw Paw becoming chairman.

The friends of Rev. G. L. Cole will pay him a visit on Friday afternoon and evening with picnic dinner and supper,—old people in afternoon and young people in evening.
If any one has any doubt to which class he belongs, he can attend both. Everybody invited.

A youthful bugler, in undress parade, made his first appearance on this earthly camping ground in rather an unceremonious manner at the St. Jo. re-union. With their customary promptness, the "boys" at once dubbed him Calmer, after the camp.

The perennial bear puts in his appearance as unfailingly as marbles or base ball, and as surely attracts an admiring group of wide-mouthed urchins, who dream that night of wonderful adventures, and hair-breadth escapes from the snarling, growling, terrible "bar."

People will do well to beware of an old duffer who is around selling an article to polish knives, silver-ware, zincs, window glass, etc. The composition he carries is nothing more nor less than cement or water-lime, which can be bought by the barrel for two dollars, anywhere.

Eljah E. Crane, an old and respected resident of the Lee District, departed this life last Saturday, aged 77 years. He leaves a wife to mourn his loss. The funeral occurred from the Lee school house, and his remains were followed to their last resting place by a large circle of friends who will long remember him as an honest, upright man.

Brown, the loud-mouthed Messenger man, has "gone where the woodbine twineeth," and the news of his departure will probably be quite a relief to many of his So. Haven friends. He left no word concerning the urgent business which called him away, but perchance some of those astounding "proofs" he claimed to hold against our Presenting Attorney may have taken unto themselves wings, and he be in frantic pursuit.

The editor of the Kalamazoo Pedagogue has had a big scare. He received a postal card so fearfully and wonderfully inscribed that he felt sure the lamented Horace Greely must have returned from the realms of the unknown, and was wondering with extreme trepidation what the great philanthropist could want of him, when he finally deciphered Don Henderson's remarkable signature, and suddenly remembered that he doesn't believe in spiritual manifestations, anyway.

E. W. Hall of Porter, met with a sad accident on Saturday last. He was drawing water to supply a steam thrasher, when the horses became frightened and started to run, throwing him from the water-tank, and the wagon wheel passed over both legs, breaking one, and injuring the other. Elmer is one of the young men whom we shall always count among "our boys," and we feel truly sorry to hear of this forced illness, which we know will be even harder for him to bear than the pain that attends it.

Base ball is getting to be quite the rage among the ladies, and many clubs have been organized throughout the country. In a contest at Philadelphia, the other day, between two rival feminine clubs, they appeared resplendent in gorgeous new uniforms, but had a very amusing faculty of dodging all the balls. The climax of the amusing, however, was reached when one of the fair players, in a momentary fit of absent-mindedness, undertook to capture a "fly" in her apron, which she didn't happen to have on.

A new daily, edited by Lloyd Breese and christened the Detroit Evening Journal, will complete with the Evening News for public patronage, after Sept. 3rd. It will be two cents per copy, and promises to be "independent in all things, clean in tone, and pure in character, and that every citizen shall be put forth to make it in all respects a model daily newspaper." There is plenty of room in newspaperdom for such a sheet, and if it proves what it promises, we doubt not of its gaining the generous meed of success which we wish it.

Our keen-eyed Observer having spied an innocent "enlaid german" on his way to town a short time since, succeeded in gaining an invitation to ride, and thereupon became engaged in a most animated conversation. We know not whether the subject under discussion was the "corn-fed granger," or the best method of applying "blisters" to the spinal column, but we do know when they drove into town with one wheel rattling along on the bare spokes, they were both blissfully unconscious that they had left the tire a mile or more behind them, and been sowing the felly broadcast.

a charge of assault and battery, made by his wife. The worthy P. M. pleaded guilty, and paid his fine of $5 and costs.

his latest drunk, and being given his choice between $10 and costs or fifteen days in Moses Williams of Hartford was brought before Justice Mortimer, last Monday, charged with assault and battery against Emma L. Stratton, and was given fifteen days in jail in which to meditate over his sins.

The Blind Musicians.

John McCoy and sister, the blind musicians, will give a concert at the Opera house, Tuesday evening, Sept. 4, to consist of vocal and instrumental music. Admission, adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Reserved seats at Chappell's without extra charge. They come well recommended, and the press speaks very highly of them wherever they have been. We clip the following:

The concert at Smith's Opera house last Friday evening was largely attended and gave eminent satisfaction. The programme included comic character songs which set the urchins wild, also instrumental solos and duets, selections from Il Trovatore and Norma, classic enough for a confirmed critic.—Ashtabula News.

The concert of the blind musicians, Mr.
John and Miss Mary McCoy at Crosey's hall, last evening, was so largely attended that, notwithstanding the hall was crowded to its utmost seating capacity, hundreds were turned away unable to even get standing room. The concert was a great success and surprise to all, being the very best ever given in this city.—Ann Arbor News.

A Glorious Time at Camp Calmer.

The fifth annual re-union of the soldiers and sailors of Southwestern Mich., held at St. Joseph on the 22nd, 23rd, and 24th of this month, was the grandest success of the season, and all who attended, returned with beaming faces and glowing accounts of the good time experienced. Few were in attendance from all parts of Southwestern Mich., Brodhead Post No. 31 being represented by no less than fifty of its members.
The tents were pitched on the bluff commanding a beautiful view of the lake, and the camp was named in honor of Capt. Chas.
H. Calmer, a former resident of St. Jo., who was killed while leading his company in a charge at Resaca, Geo.

The weather was all that could be desired, and the "boys" were well satisfied with everything except a little too much marching, although all the participants acquitted themselves with great credit. Between five and six thousand men were drawn up in line, and as they performed the various evolutions of the drill, with flags waving, and bands playing, it was an inspiring sight, and one which recalled most vividly, the scenes of bygone days. Thursday was the great day, on which occurred the grand parade, followed by a programme of music and speaking. Rev.
Geo. F. Huntington was the orator of the day, and his speech was designated as a "regular gem." Hon. J. C. Burrows was present, and made some remarks in his usual happy style, in response to the enthusiastic calls of the soldiers. Many took their departure Thursday night, and many more would have done likewise had the means for transportation been unlimited. Those who remained, occupied Friday with an excursion on the lake, and the usual amount of story telling, the laughable incidents and fortunate escapes coming largely to the front, while the days of weary marching, and suffering from hunger and pain, were partially forgotten in the joy of once again meeting so many old comrades and friends.

The citizens of St. Joseph received many compliments for the manner in which they entertained the immense crowd, that was variously estimated at from fifteen to thirty thousand.

Prospect Lake.

Fred Jacobs spent last week visiting at his father's.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jacobs visited at Mrs. L.
Hall's last Saturday.

Those new houses of Messrs. Bryant and Cooper are booming now.

Miss Lula Harris of Hamilton, spent last week with her grand parents.

Corn in this vicinity has been nearly at a stand-still for two or three weeks. Cause, dry weather.

Elder Columbus Scott's child is no better.
It still remains at this writing (25th) in an unconscious state.

If you wish to see a very nice, convenient, cool, summer churning room, take a look in side of Dennis Cooper's well-house.

The young friends of Miss Myrtle Christie gave her a pleasant surprise the 24th, it being her eighteenth birthday. The party ended with a dance in the evening.
